French poilus and knife-wielding Moroccans swung into the bloody battle for Cassino today, slashing deep into the northern flank of the German mountain line in a surprise thrust timed to coincide with an American frontal attack on that bristling enemy fort-

A communique by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's head-quarters said American 5th Army troops attacking the centre of the enemy line yesterday captured Cervaro, a key German outpost four miles southwest of Cassino.

The Americans mopped up German hill positions on either side of Cervaro and moved into position for a direct assault on Cassino, now within three miles of their advanced elements.

Simultaneously, French mountain troops and a unit of American in-fantrymen broke into the network of German defences around Acquafondata, seven miles north and east of Cassino in a flanking attack aimed at cutting the Colli-Atina supply over which enemy supplies and reinforcements had been mov ing up to the front.

week, it was learned today. The existing charge of 1-50th of cent a bushel a day in country elevators will be reduced to 1-60th. The charge of 1-50th in terminal elevators will remain unchanged.

Progressive reductions in the charge have been made in recent years, authorities said. At one time it was 1-30th of a cent and then as stocks of grain accumulated it was reduced to 1-45th and then to 1-50th.

The reduction to 1-60th was previously approved by the Western Wheat Pools, co-operative organlzations which operate numerous country elevators on the prairies. It was understood the reduced charge will be effective during the remainder of the present crop year, ending July 31, and probably will be extended beyond that date.

A.P. Restrained From Observing Certain By-Laws

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.-(AP)-A special three-judge tederal court today restrained the Associated Press perpetually from observing by-laws which permit members to consider the competitive effect of an application for membership, but declared that the news-gathering cooperative might restrict admis-sion on other grounds.

The judgment reduced to a formal order the court's opinion of last Oct. 6 in the government's civil anti-trust suit filed Aug. 28.

The judgment also declared that unless the by-laws regarding admission are amended, the following are illegal:

1. By-laws under which the AP withholds its news report from newspapers owned by persons other than AP members. 2. By-laws which restrict AP members and their employees from furnishing local news of spontan-eous origin gathered by them to persons other than the AP and its

3. The exclusive provisions of the news agreement between the Associated Press and the Canadian Press.

OPERATION STAYED

The AP was given permission to seek modification or termination of these three provisions upon furnishing proof that it had amended the bylaws concerning admission. Operation of the judgment with respect to these three restraints was stayed for 120 days. If either side appeals, the entire judgment will be stayed pending such appeal. The appointment of Mr. C. Norman Senior, for eight years private secretary to the Hon. At a time when the Department of Pen-sions and National Health is assuming new importance through its duty with regard to discharged servicemen and servicewomen, it is reassuring to know that the finest types of public servants are being given the vital executive posts.

Farmers and the Japs

The farmers of Alberta should not overlook the implications in the action just taken by the farmers of British Columbia.

Delegates from farmers institutes of all parts of British Columbia have just passed, by a nine to one vote, a resolution demanding the expulsion and exclusion from Canada of all Japanese.

This resolution was based on costly experience. It was founded on a personal knowledge extending over a long period of time. And it was made because the farmers of British Columbia know that the intrusion of Japanese into any industry spells ruin for that industry.

British Columbia appears to be unanimous in the determination to keep the Japanese out of that province: It is to be expected, then, that these people will endeavor to infiltrate into Alberta.

The farmers of Alberta, profiting by the experience of their British Columbia brothers, should make it their business to see that this province is kept clear of unassimilable orientals.

Juvenility

Protests that have been made to the public school board over the expulsion of a student for refusing to salute the flag are backed by good sound sense.

In nine cases out of ten where school children refuse to salute the flag it is because their parents have told them to do so. The parents, not the children, are in such cases the ones to be penalized.

In the odd instance in which a child, without parental instruction, refuses to salute the flag this is not prompted by treachery or bitterness, but sheer silly juvenility. And it is merely an extension of that juvenility to make an issue of the refusal and throw the objector out.

As one of the delegates to the school board pointed out, what these foolish, uninformed pupils require is not less education, but more. In other words, from the standpoint of citizenship, the very worst thing that can be done about the flagspurner is to eject him from the schools

It is to be assumed that the schools teach a form of patriotism. Certainly they should teach the meaning of it. And if the meaning of a salute to the flag is taught properly, that is, if pupils are shown, as they should be, that the flag is not a sacred object, but a mere symbol, no sane person. could object to the practice.

Compulsion, on the other hand, is simply hysterical nonsense.

The Time To Cheer

The "logistics" of the situation point directly to the probability that a half million or more Nazis will be either killed or captured in the Dnieper plateau, and that within a matter of days. As their communication lines have been cut and their escapegap narrowed to a corridor that does not lead in the direction of Germany, this outcome seems to be all but inevitable.

But it will be as well to not anticipate the event too strongly. A half-million men make up a great army, and a half-million cornered Germans can put up a terrific fight. Moreover, Nazi generalship may not be as bankrupt as it appears to be. The high command made no serious effort to evacuate these forces from the Dnieper bend. Perhaps-just perhaps-they were left there for a purpose, as part of a plan not yet set in motion.

That does not seem likely. But the alternative is to suppose the Nazi generals to be inconceivably stupid. They may not deserve many laurels for far-sighted strategy, but it is not safe to rate them as being positively dumb.

The Allied world hopes the Russians will win the great victory that seems almost in their grasp, but we must not under-rate the strength or the trickiness of the enemy. The time to cheer will be when that half-million Nazis are dead or disarmed.

War Profits

This is a tough war for anyone who hoped to repeat the profit-making history of the 1914-18 struggle. And for politic-ians who glibly declared three years ago that we were producing a new crop of millionaires but who relapsed into silence when asked to cite a few of them and tell how the get-rich-quick trick could be done. The Bank of Canada has analysed the operations of 628 Canadian companies up to the end of 1942. It found their net operating profits had grown under increased wartime business from 565 millions in 1939 to 1013 millions in 1942. After paying all charges except federal taxes the combined net profits increased in the three years from 407 millions to 728 millions.

But corporation income taxes and excess profits taxes had gone up from 79 millions to 349 millions. When these taxes had been paid the net income to the stockholders increased only from 328 millions to 379 millions, plus 19 millions of compulsory savings. As the business done was greater and the investment greater, the rate of income was decidedly less than in the pre-war year.

The cash dividends paid out by the 628 companies in 1939 totalled 240 millions, and in 1942 they were 233 millions. Undistributed income in 1939 was 88 millions and in 1942 was 127 millions. The up-shot was that the Government received a far bigger share of the earnings in 1942 than did the shareholders. The Government got 349 millions, and the shareholders 233 mil-

While the concerns did far more business, probably several times as much, the owners-big-shots and little-shots alikegot 7 millions less return on their investments in 1942 than they got in 1939. At that point of course the sharply increased and steeply graded personal income taxes came into the picture and a large propor-tion of the reduced dividends had to be handed along to the Dominion treasury.

That isn't the way millionaires are made, with all respect to the aforementioned political fortune-hunters. No person, unless by undiscovered fraud, is making or can make undue profits out of this

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell states that by employing prisoners of war and Italian and Japanese internees the problem has been solved of getting enough men in the woods in the eastern provinces to meet Britain's need of lumber for reconstruction. The use of prisoners in industry is permissable under international conventions. They cannot be compelled to work, but may do so if they want to. In this case the wages evidently overcame any scruples Nazi prisoners might have about getting out lumber to rebuild houses and other structures which they or their friends wrecked in Britain.

Re-establishment is above all a matter of helping the individual returned man to get back into civil usefulness, by applying sympathetic intelligence (and where necessary the financial support of Canada) to his problem and need. The first two articles have publicized the government's program so that the service-man's parents or his girl-friend or anyone else who is deeply interested in his welfare may be able to tell him where to go and what to do when he comes back home to stay.

But the public needs to know what the Canadian re-establishment plans will mean in the mass, when demobilization sends the men home in thousands. The following is not an official statement, and should do not know and the situation not be quoted as such. It is, how-needs a great deal of study." The survey in-quired into post-war plans of the individual soldiers, sailors and airmen, as well as into their school standing, experience in employ-ment and other matters of useful information. It was found that about 40 per cent. of our service men would like to get vocational raining when they come home, ment on Nov. 29 last, Lt.-Col. Wilfred Bovey (Chairman of the Na-ticnal Committee on Education, Canadian Legion Educational Services) estimates that 320,000 service men will come back wanting vocational courses. After reducing the number drastically to allow for those who get jobs and take evening courses, for those who go to university, for those who change their minds, Col. Bovey estimated that 150,000 ex-service men and women will present themselves for day-time vocational training when he war is over, that they will require 7,500 qualified instructors and supervisors, and that the cost in the irst year will be $149,450,000.00. Coming to Alberta, the total of enlisted men and women is about 74,000, of whom about 62 per cent, or 46,000 are aged 18 to 28. About 58 per cent of the enlisted men are without dependents. All of these (excepting those who die or are severely disabled) will be ready to to places and to be given opportunities when they return. Their num-ber will be increased by thousands young married men who will eel the responsibilities of family budgeting in a direct way for perthe first time. On the basis of last year's survey referred to above, it appears that 63 per cent war plans-they will see what turns up when the time comes. Only about 7½ per cent say that they expect to go back to what they were going before. That suggests an interesting and serious situation when demobilization comes: for every man who comes home and nuietly resumes his old occupa- ance under the act on behalf of a

Labor and Nazi Propaganda

The word "plutocratic," as a term of opprobrium, occurs six times in the course of the proclamation; the word "capitalist," in the same derogatory sense three times; the word "bourgeoisle" as an expression of scorn, twice.

The word "socialist" or "communist" is never used to describe Russia. There is evidently a standing order on this, because the Gera lack of understanding regarding the line the Nazi party has been man press for months consistently refers to Russia only as "bolshevik". man press for months consistently The conotations built up around petition with Russia, while trying taking for months for bolstering home morale. Even more startling is the line Mussolini is taking. His new state is called "the Republican Socialist State," dropping the word "Fascist."

He a secondary problem on which they held divided opinions—on which, is right here." I turned round, and Magruder introduced me to the commander of the American Volunteer Group, who had come to meet our plane on the field. What an extraordin boys are doing a swell job." Then he added: "We can talk for half an hour before won't you come to my office?"

From the field. where I could see a few of Chennault's P-40s, with Eve Curle mouth and the threatening white teeth of a shark painted on their noses, I was driven to a low building and ushered into a room full of maps and charts pinned on the walls. Two young Tigers in shabby uniforms were busy filing and typ-ing reports. They lifted their ing reports. They lifted their heads, wondering who on earth "that woman" could be—while Chennault and myself took seats, on both sides of his desk.

Proudly, like a coach speaking of his beloved team, he summed up the heavy damage that the Tigers weeks. He also spoke frankly of the losses suffered by the group— and of the obstacles he had found previous passage. in his way, of various mishaps that had been bitter to swallow. Then, me, one after another, the locations over Chinese territory. He said:

MANY AIR BASES

"Without losing time, without becoming discouraged by the Burmese catastrophe, we must get our selves in shape to attack Japan from the air. There are many air bases-here, there, or again therefrom where we can assault the long supply lines of the enemy which extend over a dangerously vast area. Look at Formosa, for instance: it is now a vital strategical centre, a clearing house for the and waiting, motionless and weary Japanese equipment being shipped south or west. Formosa is vulnerable, but only from one place: the interior of China. Now here is my point: My men and myself know by heart the Chinese coast and the hinterland. We have also learned a good deal, lately, about Indo-China, Thailand, and Burma. If we had reinforcements, both in pilots and in aircraft, and if a bombing force, properly supplied with gasoline, were added to our fighters we could do some good offensive work at once. We could strike disruptive blows at the Japanese war machine, attack the enemy lines, and attempt to separate Ja-This would be the first step toward an attack on Japan proper. The CNAC plane was about to leave. Hurriedly, I parted from Colonel Chennault—the man who had done most, so far, to bring as far as Libya and Australia. SHOOK ALL OVER While we made our way in rough weather toward Lashio, in a plane that shook all over and bumped us along, I took a last look, from above, at China's paddy fields, at her brown hills. Chennault's low voice was humming in my ears. I could still hear him saying:

And, again and again:
"We will save ourselves by at tacking the enemy. By attacking always and always. We must move forward, not backward, from China, we must strike at Japan's heart, with American machines and American men."

The only nationalists whom I found ready to collaborate in the war effort immediately and without conditions were those under communist allegiance. A typical point of view was expressed to me by the young leader of a leftist students' group counting 70,000 members in Bengal. His pro-belligerent position was based en-tirely on the belief that the preponderant part of the Soviet Union in the war and her influence at the peace table were a sufficient guaranty of the ultimate emancipation of India. No imperialism of any kind, he thought, could survive the victory of "Russia and of her al-Nations. ## Canada's 1943 Export Trade At Highest Level in History Of Nation Says MacKinnon OTTAWA, Jan. 13 .- (CP) - Canada's export trade in lies"-as he described the United 1943 reached "the highest figure in our history" and far exceeded imports to the Dominion, Trades Minister MacKinnon said last night in a prepared statement.

"The total of our domestic and " foreign exports during the year attained the unprecedented figure of slightly more than $3,000,000,-000." Mr. MacKinnon said. "In other words we exported in 1943 commodities at the rate of $250,-000,000 a month, or approximately $10,000,000 per working day-by far the highest figure in our his-

Kingdom and the United States, our exports to the Middle East and to the Far East, both of them war zones, were enormous. Moreover, exports of munitions to Russia were of unprecedented value.' Exports of motor vehicles and parts, including trucks, gun car-riers and tanks showed an increase from $26,000,000 in 1939 to $472,000,000 in 1943. Exports of guns, amounting to only a few thousand dollars in 1939, totalled $144,000,000 last year. Exports of cartridges and shells of this war, attained $354,000,000 in ice began a search yesterday for 1943. Export of ships, aircraft and Canadian army and navy stores, which were only about $1,000,000 in 1939, rose to $176,000,000 last year.

In the main items of food, such as wheat, flour, canned fish, bacon, neese, processed milk and eggs, total exports of Canadian products increased from $183,000,000 in 1939 to $482,000,000 in 1943, Exports of forest products in-creased from $207,000,000 in 1939 to $341,000,000 in 1943. Exports of non-ferrous metals such as alumzinc increased from $183,000,000 to $333,000,000. Exports of chemical products jumped from $24,-000,000 to $86,000,000.

'The growth of our export trade during the war period has far ex-ceeded the substantial rise in imports entered for consumption, so that in 1943 our favorable balance of commodity trade will exceed $1,350,000,000. That enormous figure. which is exclusive of our exports of newly mined gold, was more than 1939 exports, set at more than 12 times the favorable balance of commodity trade recorded in 1940. commodity trade recorded in 1940, when it was $111,000,000."

> The minister intimated that 1944 export figures would be even greater than those of last year. He said:

"The shipping situation has so far improved in recent months as to allow the unrestricted movement of munitions of war from stock-piles in Canada to all the far-flung war fronts of the world, in preparation for great campaign of 1944."

"In recent years the publication of information regarding the commodities constituting the greater part of our export trade has been restricted by security needs.

U-BOATS DEFEATED

"Today, with the submarine campaigning and the battle of the Atlantic won, the necessity of silence no longer exists. The tide of battle has turned, and the record of our achievement gives no aid and com-fort to the enemy, while it brings joy and satisfaction and pride of achievement to every Canadian heart."

ACTION ALL THE WAY

F THE fight citizens assembled expected they must wait for ac-tion until the main show principals -"Billie the Kid" Petersen and Ron Whalley-climbed into the ring, they drew a surprise. For starting with the Thompson-Schulthern bout things were going on right to the finish.

Guards were left with seconds when Paul Simmon and Doug. Porteous moved in for the third event. Too bad some officials from the blood donors' clinic hadn't been around with a few extra trays when these boys warmed up to the job. Some of the precious plasma could have been reclaimed even from the press table. Porteous lost the most, but won the fight.

Record for speed in turning in a completed job went to Peter

Chapman, who had far too much class for John Rennie in the sixth event. Petersen gave away 15 pounds to Whalley and the Vancouver "Golden Gloves" winner in 1942 at 170 was too tough for the clever United States boy. Incidentally Whalley, advertised as "Wally" is pronounced as such, but Ron is of Welsh descent and so the spelling is "Whalley."

Those 18 photo floods installed by the U.S. Army boys in a special reflector directly over the centre of the ring, supplied the last work in lighting efficiency and was a real break for those farthest removed

Ron Whalley Wins Decision Over Petersen

By HAL DEAN

WITH over 3,500 fight fans obviously enjoying a good show, five technical knockouts were registered in the nine-bout boxing tournament staged at the Arena on Wednesday night by the Northern Alberta Inter-Service Sports Council. Members of the Navy, the R.C.A.F. and both United States and Canadian Armies took part.

Ron Whalley, Camrose Army Training Centre, was awarded the decision over "Billie the Kid" Petersen, U.S. Army Air Forces, in the main feature event, a five round affair at catch weights. The Vancouver boy at 170 had a 15-pound edge on Petersen.

There were three other feature events, two going via the T.K.O. route and one on a foul. Peter Chapman, "M" Depot, outclassed John Rennie, Wetaskiwin Army and Referee Miles Palmer stopped the bout in the first round.

"Flash" Penolio, U.S. Army, was much too fast for Sharp, Wetaskiwin Army in their 150 pound fea-ture and won by a technical when Sharp was unable to come out for the third round after taking a lot of punishment in the second and probably being saved from a knock-

TORONTO, Jan. 13. - (CP) -There's a great scramble around the country to affix the blame for blow-up of service hockey. Actually the Army-R.C.A.F. withdrawal from senior leagues was the result of dozens of incidents and nearly every section of the country is re-sponsible to some extent.

In the first place, the C.A.H.A. lost control of the game partly when it permitted free transfer of service personnel. Service officials took advantage of situation by transferring players from team to team during play-offs with an eye to hockey rather than service training needs. Rink and team officials contributed by offering financial inducement to athletes enlisting in certain cities. They used influence to direct some service postings. Men who normally would have gone over-seas were kept in Canada from hockey season to hockey season.

Public suspicion that service names were being used to cloak commercial hockey enterprises reflected on our war effort. But even so, opinion might never have crystallized against service hockey had it not been for incidents such "exhibitions". as the Broda case and some ill-If the mat mazurkas in Phelan's advised statements by hockey ofcommonwealth actually are theat-

District News in Brief

War Workers Elect At Rocky Mountain

Mrs. Joseph Bertagnolli was elected president of the Chedderville-Dovercourt-Clearwater War Workers' organization at a meeting here. Other officers are: Vicepresident, Mrs. Fred May: secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Sinclair; auditor, Mrs. R. L. Zengel. The organization which covers an area of more than 20 square miles, raised more than $200 last year and donated to the Milk-for-Britain fund; Red Cross, Russian Re-Overseas Tobacco fund, and the Navy League. Cigarettes and Christmas parcels were sent to all district men overseas.

Mrs. J. Horne was elected president of the Women's Institute at an annual meeting. Other officers are vice-president, Mrs. K. Parks; secretary, Mrs. F. Day; treasurer, Mrs. A. Nile, and directors. Mrs. T. H. Bucknall, Mrs. T. Ogden and Mrs. T. Edwards.

The last year was reported as the most successful in the history of the organization. More than of the organization. More than $300 was raised by the 12 members. Members filled 12 ditty bags for sailors, sewed for bombed out civilians, for the Navy League, and the Red Cross.

The feed grain shortage here has been relieved by the efforts of the Board of Trade in locating feed within trucking distance, and farmers have brought in considerable grain board.

Also, the mild winter is helping the feed situation. The ground is barely covered with snow and cattle can forage during the middle of the day. Many farmers are not feeding their horses, letting them rustle, which saves the meagre feed supplies for the cattle. Unless the weather turns bad there will be no lack of feed for animals.

German Prisoners Reach Whitecourt

WHITECOURT .- A large crowd of residents witnessed the arrival here Friday, of a group of German prisoners who will work in nearby lumber camps. The request for silence made by the corporal from spreading to other property,
L. S. Thompson was chosen as people's warden at an annual meeting of the parishioners of St.
Cyprian's Anglican church. Other crews with a few airmen. All were wearing their German uniforms which appeared to have been well kept.

Under the watchful eyes of the veterans Guard of Canada several of the prisoners were detailed to pass the heavy kit-bags out of the coach and on to waiting trucks. Meanwhile, others stood chatting and smoking cigarettes. One was holding a carefully wrapped guitar. When the transfer of kits was completed, the military training of the men was evident by the almost mechanical manner in which they obeyed their own officer's order to 'fall in" and they marched off to the lumber company's cookhouse for supper. After the meal they were conveyed by trucks out into the bush to specially prepared camps, where they will be employed at tie-making.

More Metals Are Released For Civil Use

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 .- (CP) -A policy of easing restrictions upon certain types of material formerly in critical supply but whose position has since improved was indicated in the announcement by Munitions Minister Howe last night that such easing is in keeping with the government's policy of making available for civilian use any materials no longer in critical

At the same time the minister announced the removal of restric-tion on the use of steel and east iron pipe, wire and wire rod, and some types of aluminum.

He said production of aluminum now has exceeded present war demands and has reached an all-time peak, enabling the munitions de-partment to permit its use for cer-tain essential civilian products.

RESTRICTIONS LIFTED

About three weeks ago the prices board and munitions department jointly announced the removal of restrictions on the sale and use of scrap aluminum and secondary al-uminum ingots derived from scrap.

Last night's order, issued by Metals Controller G. C. Bateman, cancels restrictions on the sale and use of aluminum rivets, cast aluminum rod, aluuminum welding wire, metallizing wire, alum-inum wire for anodizing the aluminum tie wire for electrical

It also permits anyone to acquire or use aluminum powder or paste as a pigment in making paint, subject to the reservation by the metals controller of such quantities as he requires.

F.D.R. Message Is Tagged Bid For 4th Term

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13-(AP) -Republicans yesterday tagged President Roosevelt's message to Congress, particularly the part advancing a post-war "bill of economic rights," as a fourth term bid and a preview of the 1944 Democratic platform.

"It all adds up to a fourth term id," was the way Representative Thomas Jenkins (Rep.-Ohio) view

Representative Joseph Martin of Massachusttse, the house Repub lican leader, observed that throughout the message the President "never for a moment forgot that there is an election ahead."

"ALREADY" CANDIDATE

Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep.-Mich.) said he did not interpret the message as a fourth term announce-ment "since the President already was a candidate for another tern in my opinion.'

However, he said the five points enunciated by the President might be interpreted as a campaign plat-

Irrespective of the President's views on another term in the White House, it is clear that he believes the pre-war program of social changes which was called the "New Deal" should be pressed again once the conflict is over.

His bill of economic rights pro jected a vast extension of social security and government aids and assurances to the individual.

POST-WAR VIEWS

Republicans viewed it as giving a broad outline of what sort of postwar domestic program the President wants the Democratic convention to endorse.

Fear of Nazis Led Prisoners To End Lives

OMAHA, Jan. 13-(AP)-Two suicides among German prisoners of war at the Concordia, Kas., internment camp were attributed by the 7th Service Command last night to "Fear of persecution wielded by the Nazis.

The Germans were Franz Kett-ner, private in the German army, who slashed his wrists while held in protective custody at his own request; and an unidentified German captain accused of "making remarks against Hitler." hanged himself after being "removed from his quarters by fellow prisoners and taken to another room, where he was left with a piece of rope, a bed, a chair, a table and his personal belong-ings," the command said.

Investigation of the captain's death, the command reported. resulted in "Rather conclusive evidence of the existence of a system of 'kangaroo court martials' in the prison camp com-pounds" at which "officers were 'tried' and informed that they were found guilty of treasonable acts of one kind or another.'

Welfare Council Director Says Definite Objectives Must Be Set by People

"Are we ready for social security? If the answer is 'no', we have one final responsibility," said Dr. George F. "That responsibility," he added, "is, are we prepared to face the consequences of social insecurity after the war?" Dr. Davidson told his listeners

THE ANSWERS

MRS. R. W. HEATH, school teacher: I think all school children should be taught respect for the flag as symbol of the country in which they live. The action of saluting flag is just an outward demonstration of this respect, and I see no reason why any child should be given special privileges in regard to it.

JOHN W. GORDON, salesman: In this country we have a law of compulsory education up to a certain age, and I don't think any child should be expelled from school before he is old enough to realize the meaning of such an action. Religious convictions are involved in this case and it seems to be a matter of the parents' convictions and not the child's.

MRS. MARY BATES, housewife: I agree with the league members when they say this is a matter for more education and not less. I think in this contry we would do well to place more stress on the teaching of those principles freedom and Christianity under which we live. Children should be taught to understand these freedoms and not take them for granted as so many of

THE STORY: As an undergraduate in 1910 Gid Planish had wanted to save the world. As an English professor at Kinnikinick College in 1921, he is well-esteemed but vaguely dissatisfied with his lot until he marries Peony Jackson, a student, who predicts a brilliant future for him.

CHAPTER IX

THE Dean of Kinnikinick College, Dean Gideon Planish-he was new dean; in the fall of 1926, he had been so exalted for only a year -had almost finished the annual plague of straightening out under raduete schedules. He was looking amiably at a thin girl with curly hair and troubled eyes, and he was chuckling.

"This won't do, Miss Janes. Your schedule is badly unbalanced. Three courses in literature! I never heard of such a thing! 'Advanced English Poetry' and 'The History of the Novel' and 'Chaucer and Spencer.' What do you plan to do? Teach?

He knew all about teaching literature in both of its aspects—as an incentive to morality and as an aid to earning a living. He had figures to prove that he could increase the vocabularies of freshmen 39.73 per cent in nine months.

As dean and as the readiest speaker in Kinnikinick, he had constantly to enlighten the public on such problems as the recent Women's Suffrage Amendment, the Sacco-Vanzetti trial, the progress of the Weimar Republic, the heroic heart of the martyred president, Mr. Harding, the Florida Land Boom (in which the Dean had lost $100 that he badly needed for payments on Peony's new piano), the pedagogical significance of the fact that Bryn Mawr was permitting students to smoke within the college, and, always, the crisis of Flaming Youth: gin flasks and giggling from automobiles parked

Your Baby And Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED The child who is the oldest of the family has an enviable position which she should enjoy because of the privileges attach-

One can spoil the child's enthus-iasm for being the oldest if the privileges do not keep pace with the responsibilities. Then, so she figures, she might as well be the same age as the youngest.

Mrs. W. C. thinks her 9-year-old is ready for some home tasks. "I also have a 4-year-old. The oldest is in bed by 8:30 but seldom sleeps until 9:30 or later. She has been this way since she was a baby. She is high-strung and on the move every minute. I used to read stor-ies to calm her before her bedtime. now she reads them herself. I feel she should have some duties but have taken the easy road and have done them myself. I wish there were some way to get her to do small jobs without making them seem such a chore.

"She teases the younger girl and there is always a lot of arguing and quarrelling. This is very upsetting to me. There is a bit of jealousy though we treat them exactly alike and my husband and I are not the argumentative type."

You want to love both of them equally, but the old should be treated differently as befits her age difference. They are not twins so do not treat them as such. Put the younger to bed a half hour earlier. Allot tasks to both of them but the older should get the more complex ones because she is capable of performing

Both children might be more eager to do tasks if they weren's listed as "helping mother." Losing one's own work in that of another is not inspring to a child.

Each job should be the child's own job, performed by herself and chosen by herself. Later she may have some of those jobs she isn't interested in but does as part of her obligations as a member of the family.

The quarrelling cannot always be ended. Stay outside of it and let the children adjust their own differences. The younger will learn to parry the teasing and administer some of her own. If you take her part you arouse antagonism and jealousy.

When they get too noisy and quarrelsome separate them. Don't try to judge which one was "right." You can't do it fairly and you offer a seedbed for future quarrels when one child feels your judgment to be biased. Quarrelling may momentarily clear the air when forced arbitration might lead to masked but c'ill active animosity

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 13—(AP)—With some support shown at the lower levels the stock market closed steadier today. Industrials were down early in the session but recovered part of the losses before the close. Oils rallied white Kaffirs finished irregular and diamonds and copper stocks were mostly inactive. Home rails were off for the day. International securities were quiet although Argentine rails held steady.

Certain isolated tribes in Colom bia use cubes of sugar as money.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—(AP)—Wheat developed a distinctly weak undertone today, slumping more than a cent to the lowest level since ceilings were placed over the grain. Liquidation was scattered and not paressing, but the market lacked buying orders and declining tendencies persisted throughout the session.

There were reports from the Northwest that farmers had been heavy sellers of cash wheat on a "to-arrive" basis over the past 10 days. This, coupled with indications of heavy imports from Canada by freight cars over the next few months, caused the selling of futures. Other grains were down with the bread cereal, rye dropping about two cents at times.

At the close wheat was 1-124 lower, oats were off %-94, rye was down 1½-1½, and barley was %-5-10wer.

New Chief of Staff of Eanada's Army Overseas

Lieut.-General Kenneth Stuart, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., former Chief of the General Staff, who has been appointed Chief of Staff, Canadian Military Headquarters, London, and Acting Commander of the First Canadian Army, as a result of the retirement of Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., brings to his new post experience as a soldier dating back to the early part of the century. He was a keen student of the course taken by aircraft and mechanized armies and to him might be laid much of the credit for Canada's preparation against the new type of war. In the Great War he was a Lieutenant-Colonel by 1917, and won the Distinguished Service Order and the Military Cross, in the field. Too Big to Handle

With all the superlatives bandied about in Hollywood, it is a real switch when a studio breaks down and confesses that it has made a picture too big to handle. But this is the case of Warner Bros., the studio ordered the largest "pin-up" ever made, a photo of Ann Sheridan. It is to be presented to the boys of Little Norway, Canada. When the print was delivered there was not an elevator nor a stairway, at the Warner office big enough to handle the picture-which measures eight feet by ten feet,

Double-Talk in Arabia

Neither of the conversationalists in the photo understands much of what the other is saying, but it's all according to Arabian Hoyle. Maj.-Gen. Ralph Royce, U.S.A.A.F. Middle East co. of an important U.S. mission to Saudi Arabia, is not so hot on Arabic, but was instructed to talk directly to King Ibn Saud, who doesn't know much English. An interpreter sits offside to translate, Folks who have seen the above map created and executed by Grahame Cairns, draughtsman in the Canadian Pacific Railway's engineering office. Winnipeg, find it hard to decide whether it is a chart or a sort of visible, quick-glance encyclopedia of railway information. Working diligently over a period of months, Mr. Cairns transferred from books and records a wealth of information onto a map 11'by 3 feet, showing western lines of the C.P.R. Each siding, station, junction, subdivision, division and district is shown, together with mileages, mileage summaries, and double track, joint-section trackage and connecting or adjacent foreign lines, provincial boundaries and standard time zones are also delineated. Data shows the date when each line was started and when operation began, so that the map has special historical as well as physical information. Railwaymen who like the idea of having all essential information on one piece of paper already are clamoring for prints of Grahame Cairns' unique map.

Vitamin A may be provided more abundantly in the diet by selecting plenty of green and yellow tables. It has been estimated that from 30 to 40 per cent of the vita-min A value of modern diets comes from the use of vegetables having green or yellow coloring.

A report on a fairly recent sur-vey shows that city diets are likely to be low in vitamin A. The use of 3 to 3½ pounds per person per week of vegetables, together with the use of milk, butter and eggs, will provide enough vitamin A. These vegetables should include: leafy vegetables such as lettuce, celery (tops), parsley, spinach, cabbage, and beet tops; green vegetables such as asparagus, okra, green peas, string beans, and broccoli; and yellow vegetables such as carrots, winter squash, sweet po-tatoes and yellow turnips. Try to give your family 2 or 3 servings of these vegetables a day.

The same vegetables which are beneficial by supplying vitamin A, also supply vitamin C, iron, calcium and cellulose. The cellulose is indigestible and hence acts as a bulkproducer and aids regularity of the intestinal elimination.

Vitamin A is stored to some extent in the body but for best results should be received daily. It appears to increase resistance to infections, especially those of the breathing passages and urinary tract. It helps to maintain a normal appetite, is necessary for a healthy skin, and for normal growth in children. It is also needed for normal keenness of vision.

A mild deficency of apparently produces a lowered re istance to infection, dryness of the skin, poor appetite, lack of vigor, imperfect vision at night called "night blindness," and digestive disturbances. A severe deficiency will produce loss of weight, re-tarded growth in children, and an eye disease.

There is very little loss of the vitamin in the usual cooking meth-ods. Canned vegetables, and also those subjected to quick freezing, retain their vitamin A.

Some of the best sources of the vitamin are: Green and yellow vegetables, milk, cream, butter, eggs, and various fish-liver oils. Vitamin-fortified margarine is another good source of vitamin A.

When you plan your meals for the day, think about what green and yellow vegetables you might possibly include in them. Then when you go to the store, or to the food cupboard, reach out and get your hands on the vitamin A foods you have planned to use. Get those foods on the table, where your fam ily will benefit from them. With careful planning, you may possibly double the vitamin A content of your meals.

And bear in mind that the vegetables which are good for health in the way of adding vitamin A, possess blood-building virtues as well.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Wi on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

He said the original day nursery offer still stands, and that the Dominion government is ready contribute 50 per cent of nursery cost, the province 25 per cent, and municipalities where a nursery will operate, the other 25 per cent.

"We do not want to force plan on any municipality," Dr Cross explained.

Discussing the city's suggestion that the province should pay half the cost incurred, and the Domin-ion the other half, the minister stated he could not see why every-one in the province should be asked to pay 50 per cent of the cost for a nursery for Edmonton only The Dominion and the province are willing to pay 75 per cent of the cost, and municipalities that wish to have a nursery are asked to take a 25 per cent share of expenses, he added.

The province does not wish a share of any revenue derived from a day nursery. Dr. Cross continued, and such revenue would be divided between the municipality and the Dominion.

"Today." he said. "we have all people working and the national income is now between $8,000,-000,000 and $9,000,000,000 a year." It is obvious that the extent to which we can have any welfare or secial security program depends on how we can maintain the national income, he said.

B.C. Is Anxious To Share Trade With Alberta

The Chamber of Commerce council held its regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Corona Wednesday noon and had as guest speaker, T. C. Clarke, vice-president of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Mr. Clarke spoke on the value of the Alberta British Columbia inter-trade committee and said that the committee "has a great role to play in providing a sound-ing board for the ideas of each of us and as a study committee securing facts on which to base sound judgement.

SHARE BUSINESS

"We in British Columbia," he said, "are frankly desirous of shar-ing in the business which Albertans do in Canada and in turn we want to share our production equitably with Albertan production.

He pointed out that "there is a degree of relationship in the prob-ems of Alberta and British Coumbia in the economic and busiless sphere which does not necessarily exist between other provinces and which makes co-operation all the more vital."

Lincoln P. Jay, representative of the United States War Production Board, was also present at the meeting and spoke briefly.

The Chamber of Commerce was asked to support the Allied Arts Council in promoting a symbolic representation of Edmonton's place as "the crossroads of the world." D. C. Sandilands of the Allied Arts Council exhibited a model for consideration.
